

Welcome!

To keep EAS informed of Grace Anne Stewart Speaker Series (GASSS) activities, we will be circulating monthly newsletters throughout the year!

About the Grace Anne Stewart Speaker Series

The Grace Anne Stewart Speaker Series (GASSS) is a student-led equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) initiative which aims to address issues related to EDI in the Earth and Atmospheric sciences department at the UofA and broader geoscience community. The issues we wish to address include underrepresentation, inequality, discrimination, and bias related to gender, sexual orientation, race, ethnicity, ability, and neurodiversity in geoscience.

GASSS update and events

GASSS EAS Gear Drive

We are organizing a department gear drive ahead of the upcoming field school and field work season. Our goal is to collect items to help undergraduate and graduate students in EAS that have limited access to field gear. If you have any spare items that you no longer use, please consider donating them! We will accept any items ranging from field clothing to equipment. There is a donation bin set up in the EAS main office (ESB 1-26) for those that would like to drop off donations, which will remain open until March 18, 2022.

GASSS Program - Mentorship Program

We are happy to announce the launch of the pilot Mentorship Program in EAS. During the pilot program running from September 1, 2021 to April 30, 2022 we hope to improve the student experience in EAS and ensure better pastoral care. Mentor-mentee relationships will work to bridge the gap in communication between various levels of the department body and improve the sense of community for all in EAS. Our hope is to initiate a permanent mentorship program after feedback from the pilot program. If you have any questions or concerns about the mentorship program please feel free to contact EASmentorship@gmail.com. If you missed the chance to participate as a mentee or mentor in the pilot program, everyone is able to view the handbook that provides a collection of resources on various topics from mental health to scholarships.

GASSS Program - Unlearning Racism in Geoscience (URGE)

As many know, a group from our department participated in the URGE program that took place from January 2021 to May 2021. This program was a 16-week structured reading and seminar course to learn about racism in geoscience, what we can do to be more inclusive, and develop policy and guidelines that are actively anti racist. A group from GASSS presented their work to date on the outcomes of the URGE program in a recent ATLAS talk on February 4, 2022. In case you missed it, you can watch it here:

URGEOSCIENCE - Unlearning Racism in Geoscience

We will need everyone's help to make all of our goals coming from the URGE program a reality! If you see a project you'd be interested in helping or leading please contact GASSS. Please note that you do not have to be on the GASSS committee to help with any of these projects.
